The portfolio performance is based on a composite of all individual portfolios under the same mandate type and does not represent any specific portfolio. Returns are calculated using a composite Time-Weighted Rate of Return (TWRR), with individual portfolio returns weighted by their beginning-of-period asset values to account for varying portfolio sizes and cash flows. FUND MANAGER'S COMMENT

Data as of 30 June 2026

Within the KLCI, the top three gainers for June were 99 Speed Mart Retail Holdings (+9.5%), YTL Power International Berhad (+9.0%), and Petronas Dagangan Bhd (+8.1%). Meanwhile, the top three decliners were Petronas Chemicals Group Berhad (-18.8%), Press Metal Aluminium Holdings (-14.8%), and CelcomDigi Bhd (-9.4%).

Malaysia's macro backdrop in June remained broadly stable, supported by improving global risk sentiment, although domestic sentiment was partly influenced by heightened political attention ahead of the upcoming general election cycle. While election-related uncertainty led to periods of volatility in domestic equities, market reaction was overall measured, reflecting expectations of policy continuity and institutional stability. Easing global energy pressures and more diversified crude supply dynamics, partly supported by shifts in Russian export flows, helped moderate inflationary pressures and support domestic price stability. Nevertheless, we remain watchful of the second order inflationary effect arising from earlier increases in energy, logistics, and labour costs which could still lingered within certain industry. Against this backdrop, we remain constructive on selected domestic-oriented sectors, particularly those linked to rising electricity demand from data centre expansion and continued momentum in renewable energy investment. We are also increasingly positive on the technology sector as visibility in order flows improves, supported by sustained AI-related capital expenditure from global leaders. Accordingly, our strategy continues to favour a barbell approach anchored on large-cap, high-quality companies with strong balance sheets and reliable dividend yields, while selectively complemented by exposure to firms with clear earnings growth potential driven by structural thematic drivers.
