FUND MANAGER'S COMMENT

Data as of 31 July 2026

Within the KLCI, the top three gainers for July were Petronas Chemicals Group Bhd (+18.01%), CelcomDigi Bhd (+11.6%), and SD Guthrie Bhd (+10.2%). Meanwhile, the top three decliners were YTL Corp Bhd (-6.3%), Axiata Group Bhd (-5.7%), and IOI Properties Group Bhd (-3.8%).

Malaysia's macro backdrop in July remained relatively resilient despite a more politically active environment, with investors closely monitoring the Johor state election and the subsequent Negeri Sembilan election as potential indicators of the political landscape heading into GE16. The decisive outcome in Johor and the heightened focus on Negeri Sembilan reinforced expectations that political developments will remain a key theme for domestic markets, although the overall market reaction has remained orderly amid continued confidence in institutional stability and policy continuity. At the macro level, inflation remains contained, domestic demand continues to be supported by a healthy labour market, and government-led investment initiatives provide a supportive backdrop for growth. We remain constructive on selected domestic-oriented sectors, particularly those benefiting from rising electricity demand driven by data centre expansion, ongoing renewable energy investments, and infrastructure-related spending, especially within the Johor growth corridor. We also see increasing opportunities in the construction, utilities, and industrial sectors as Malaysia continues to attract foreign direct investment, supported by supply chain diversification trends and the acceleration of digital infrastructure projects. Accordingly, our strategy continues to favour a barbell approach anchored on large-cap, high-quality companies with strong balance sheets and reliable dividend yields, while selectively complemented by exposure to firms with clear earnings growth potential driven by structural thematic drivers.
